Overview to: Population Health Management and Prevalidation

What is population health management?

A model of care that strives to address patients' health needs at all points along the continuum of care, including the community setting, by increasing patient participation and engagement and targeting interventions.

Journey to Population Health Management

What is Prevalidation?

Opportunity for vendors to demonstrate their HIT solutions can provide support for organizations or practices pursuing NCQA accreditation or recognition.

NCQA has two Prevalidation Programs:

- Recognition Program Prevalidation: Reviews vendor's tools against PCMH Recognition or PCSP Recognition
- PHM Prevalidation: Reviews vendor's tools against PHM-related elements in HPA, MBHO, PHP and CM.

The process

What are the designations?

Organization Support

- The tool met factor or element requirements, but the vendor does not perform the function directly and instead offers the tools or the ability to produce required reports.

Eligible for Automatic Credit

- The tool demonstrates competency for the entire function outlined in the element or factor. The organization using the tool receives a score of “met” for an eligible requirement.

Client Organization Benefits

How they benefit

Help them select tools that align with their needs
